The U.S. Naval Construction Battalion
Center at Davisville, Rhode Island, is first remembered as the original "Home Of the Atlantic Seabees."

During World War II, 100 battalions as well as
dozens of other U.S.

Navy "Builder-Fighter"
units were formed,
outfitted, trained, and
prepared for overseas deployment. Here, in the first photographic
history of the base, is the story of the men and women who came to

Davisville and their legacy of superb
accomplishments in the service of their country.

Established on February 27, 1942, the base was designated to manufacture and ship
overseas materials and equipment and to outfit
and embark construction battalions and other naval units. Between 1942 and 1994, when the base was closed, the Seabees participated in every war involving the United States. The Quonset Hut and the Davisville pontoons were both developed at the Davisville Seabee Center. The base has schooled and trained thousands of officers and tens of thousands of Seabees.

Born in the hellish
aftermath of Pearl

began as barely armed civilians with no military training. They had an average age of Battalion or the Seabees (C.B.'s) soon proved themselves miracle-construction-workers in seemingly impassable combat zones. Before World War 2, Marines were the ones to get their first, but the need for roads in the muddy battlefields of the Pacific meant that claim would pass to the Construction Battalion.

Vietnam. The Navy Seabees were some of the first to show up for Vietnam's struggle against communism. In 1954, President Ngo Dinh Diem wrote a letter to President Eisenhower asking for military and economic
aid. In 1954 and 1955
an estimated one million refugees (mostly persecuted Catholics)

moved from the Communist State of North Vietnam to the south (8% of the North's population). The Seabees assisted them during their "Passage to Freedom". In 1956, Seabees were assigned to survey Vietnam's roads. There weren't many. The Seabees travelled by jeep and on foot with pack-mules.

The surveyors found that the bombers of World War II, the guerrillas of Viet Minh, and the newly emerging guerrilla groups of the Viet Cong had destroyed most of the bridges and sabotaged what few roads were left. Beginning in 1963, Seabee Teams, with Secret Clearances, arrived in Vietnam to assist the U.S. Army's Special Forces in the CIA funded Civilian

Irregular Defense Group (CIDG) program, and to help the Vietnamese help themselves. The Seabees constructed
Special Forces Camps
and outposts, airfields for the SF STOL-class Caribou aircraft, and built connecting roads.
These Seabee Teams

many other medals. One and airstrips—it would have been near impossible to get the 2.1 million eventual Americans—along with their equipment (Beans, Bullets, And Black Oil)—delivered to South Vietnam and support them. Many Vietnam Vets—including this writer—showed up after 1965. Most of us took it for granted that the air

we arrived, military and civilian engineers were busy preparing the
